

8 Unmissable Highlights of the 2017 Berlin Art Week

From Chris Dercon's season opening at the Volksbühne to a Harun Farocki retrospective, Berlin's fall art season has a lot to offer.

artnet News, September 4, 2017

Monica Bonvicini, Structural Psychodrama #1 (2017). ©Monica Bonvicini / VG-Bild Kunst, Bonn 2017, Photo: Tobias Hübel.

2. Monica Bonvicini at the Berlinische Galerie, September 16, 2017 – February 26, 2018

For her solo presentation at the Berlinische Galerie, Monica Bonvicini has produced a site-specific installation to be staged in the museum's large exhibition hall—a move that is a hallmark of her decades-long practice, which often focuses on the institutional viewing space. Because the Berlin exhibition runs in tandem with the 15th Istanbul Biennale, in which Bonvicini is also participating, the show is influenced by both Berlin and Istanbul, and is said to feature elements of each major city.

Berlinische Galerie is located at Alte Jakobstraße 124–128, 10969 Berlin, Germany. Day tickets are €10 ($12).