Julian Stanczak at Diane Rosenstein Gallery

Saturday, February 5

Julian Stanczak: The Light Inside at Diane Rosenstein Gallery. Exploring the artist's intuitive use of color and geometric abstraction to create a sense of radiant light, this historic series of paintings resonates with the themes of the California Light And Space movement. According to the late artist, his minimal compositions are emotional landscapes that express his desire to transcend the surface containment of the painting as object and connect with the viewer through perception. 831 N. Highland Ave., Hollywood; Opening: Saturday, February 5, 2-6pm; Talk by art critic and journalist Hunter Drohojowska-Philp: Wednesday, February 16; On view through April 2; free; dianeroseinstein.com.
